Any statements or advertising from our competitor's to the contrary are entirely FALSE and unsupportable. A strong word of caution: Some of 3rd Planet Products, Ltd. competitor's intimate pussy shaving, pubic shaving products are supplied with talc: Recent medical studies have raised serious potential health concerns over the use of talc in any consumer product, particularly with regard to the human genital area, and that it may cause tumors. Health Warning! Better safe than sorry.
Phthalates banned in the EU.

"It was in the USA that all hell broke loose. Enraged parents were up in arms because there were phthalates in their children's toys. Reports of deformed genitals, lungs and kidneys, not to mention the alterations in the hormonal system confirmed their fears. Children tend to suck the dangerous toys, which explains how it might enter their bodies. Particularly pregnant women and those of child-bearing age were found to be carrying high concentrations of the chemical substances that are used to soften plastics. Why that is?, nobody knows. It may be because phthalates can be found in all kinds of products, such as cosmetics, clothing, shower curtains, floors, containers or, for instance, food or medical devices and other things women frequently touch...such as sex toys and lesbian sex toys."
